"The Garden of Sleep, by the edge of the cliff," is the poetic and descriptive title given to the portion of the cliff-edge close to the popular seaside resort of Cromer The grass here is thickly covered with the brilliant scarlet hue of the poppy, which greatly increases the beauty of the view, and in warm weather the aptness of the title is fully justified.

Dear Auntie.

Cromer is an awfully nice place, but very cold, one wants their winter garments here.

We are going to the "Garden of Sleep" on day. With much love to all from all
